Introduction

There is an old saying that goes, "Quality over quantity". The Internet is the poster child for information quantity. It has grown exponentially and continues to grow rapidly as more and more people use it for a vast variety of purposes. However, the presentation quality of this information is greatly lacking. TypoBounty.com is changing that by creating a win-win environment for web surfers and website owners. Website owners gain attention and help for their websites by asking hunters for help perfecting their website and business marketing efforts.

TypoBounty.com realizes that spell checking the entire Internet and making it error-free is a very large job. OK, an enormous job. But that only makes it an enormous opportunity for our hunters. That's where you come in!

Every error that you see on websites could be worth two dollars or more in your pocket.

You have an enormous opportunity to make money as you surf the web!

Having The Proper Hunter Mindset

NEVER REPORT ANY TYPE OF ERROR THAT THE WEBSITE OWNER DOES NOT SPECIFICALLY ASK FOR!

Doing so only annoys the website owner and/or allows them to fix the problems without paying you or anyone else once the advertiser changes what he/she is asking help with.

Advertisers often modify the category of help they will pay for over time. Don't blow it for everyone by reporting items they don't ask for. No matter how blatant the error, if you report in an error category that they did not specify, it is considered to be an INVALID REPORT that is not to be paid for.

Just like with any game, there are those that will do well in the competition and earn lots of money using the TypoBounty.com website. Then there are those that will not do well.

What's the difference? Those that will do well understand that most websites are owned by individuals with day jobs. They are just like the rest of us. They aren't just trying to give money away. So, don't act like they are.

They are looking for help making their business a success. They don't want their time wasted by someone that is just trying to get in their pocket. If you see an opportunity to make a legitimate contribution to their website within the parameters of the categories they select, you are encouraged to create a report.

However, if you think that bombarding our clients with frivolous reports or reports that do not match what the client is asking for will pay off, you will be disappointed. They don't have to pay for reports that refer to errors or help they didn't ask for. They are free to use your unsolicited suggestion and not pay you a dime. The only thing you will accomplish is to waste your time and eventually get your account cancelled. (Note: Our clients can penalize your account with a single click of a button. As the penalties accumulate your account becomes less effective and auto-cancels.) So, please stay within the rules of the TypoBounty.com site.

The best mindset is to have an attitude of "How can I help this website accomplish its goals by reporting in the areas specified?" Only make reports when you know you are right and when you have done exactly what the website owner has asked for. That's the only way that you will get paid and the only way to keep your account from being penalized, reducing your attempt to report in the future. That's the beauty of this game. If the quality and validity of your reports drops, so does your ability to earn money. If the quality and validity of your reports are maintained the sky is the limit for what you can earn.

The Vast Opportunity

Since there are so many ways that TypoBounty.com can help businesses succeed, its appeal to the business public is growing as they learn of the help they can receive. The potential earning opportunities grow as business owners hear about us, and more hunters join as we grow more popular. At first, it would seem that more hunters joining would dilute the amount of money that can be made on TypoBounty.com but that is not true. Think of it this way. An increase in the number of hunters DIRECTLY CORRELATES to an increase in the number of websites referred to us. As our hunter numbers grow, website owners seeking publicity for their businesses will list their websites to get their products in the center of all of the action. All of this equates to greater opportunities for all hunters. So, be the first to tell all of your friends and family about this opportunity and make sure that they tell all of their friends. As others refer websites and miss errors, you can capitalize by grabbing the earning opportunities.

There are billion dollar earning opportunities through TypoBounty.com. Become a TypoBounty.com error hunter and you will never view the Internet in the same way again. Every error that you see on websites could be worth two dollars or more in your pocket.

Whether you choose to hunt errors casually by just reporting errors and refer websites as you run across them in your daily web surfing, or you elect to search for errors intently by using search engines to find them, this is a fun way to help others and earn money at the same time.

Search Engines Are Valuable Hunter Tools

Search engines are excellent tools for finding the websites with errors. You see, search engines index website web pages and their text just as it is. That means that if a website owner makes a mistake like misspelling a word, search engines index that misspelled word as it is written. Searching for common mistakes can really pay off. We tested the theory and searched for the word “receive” but intentionally misspelled it as “recieve”. The mistake was found on over 14 million web pages. With payments averaging two dollars for each instance, that is a lot of potential money on the table. Think about it. That is just one root word! What other common mistakes can you think of to search? Remember, there are a lot of search engines and many of them index different web pages. So, use several different search engines to hunt for the best opportunities. Error-riddled websites are everywhere. Once you find them, you can refer them to TypoBounty.com and have each successfully referred website reserved for you for two days. This reserve feature goes into effect when the website owner lists his/her website on TypoBounty.com within a month of your referral.

Secret To Hunting Like A Sniper

TypoBounty.com has different hunter levels to achieve. Show what you know. The race to see which hunter will reach each of the levels first is on.

To reach the “Sniper” level quickly you will have to be innovative in your approach to locating and referring the websites that have errors. Referring websites that you notice errors on is the key but remember you can feast earn for errors that others miss after they successfully refer websites. Also, remember that many website owners will list their websites without being referred. So, the reporting feature is open to all from day one.

Only refer websites that have incentive to be better at what they do. You see, just like a real sniper, your success depends on your ability to find the target and accurately perform the job at hand.

- No one goes to the websites that you go to in the same order that you go to them.
- No one sees every error that you see at the same time that you see them.
- No one has the exact same level of understanding and error spotting ability as you do.

So, use your individual talents, understanding and searching tendencies to locate, spot, refer, report and earn money for what you see online.

“Website owners make mistakes when they build and edit their websites. So, errors are reoccurring and the opportunity to earn doubles, triples and quadruples.”

What To Look For

Much of the Internet's information is riddled with errors that detract from the owner's intended message. Trillions of errors like misspelled words, poor punctuation, lack of clarity, missing graphics, broken links and so much more exist online. Now you can earn money for finding these problems and reporting them first.

1. As you surf the web, you see the errors even though you aren't looking for them.

Example 1. Have you ever run across an error on a website that looks like this?

"We will will be the best at what we do."

The author clearly meant to say
"We will be the best at what we do."

That single editing mistake, if reported by you first, could have added $2.00 to your pocket. Imagine how many instances like this exist online.

Example 2. Have you ever seen errors like this?

"Please allow 3 weeks for delivery."

The author clearly meant to say
"Please allow 3 weeks for delivery."

That single spelling mistake, if reported by you first, could have added $2.00 to your pocket. Imagine how many instances like this exist online.

The Report

The report is the most important part of the TypoBounty.com experience. You have to be right and you have to be first. Being first but wrong does you NO GOOD. And being right but second has the same result. However, being RIGHT and FIRST can be a very lucrative thing!

When creating a report, remember to be respectful and helpful. This can't be stressed enough. The website owner owns their website and has control of the money you seek.

The website owner determines whether to request help for a single page or their entire website. The indication of their decision will be in the upper left hand corner on the advertiser's listing.

You will see  or  . The "P" = Single Page and the "W" = Entire Website. Always look here first and abide by the website owner's selection.

Successfully Referring Websites

Referring websites is the most effective way to earn money in bursts using TypoBounty.com. When referring a website you have to remember to claim the website first. Then refer them.

Once the website owner lists his/her website on TypoBounty.com within a month of your referring them, the report feature will be reserved for you for two days. Then it will be opened to all hunters.

Everyone knows that using a search engine can help you find websites with common mistakes. (misspelled words, poor punctuation, etc.) However, there is a need to think about which websites to refer and which are a waste of time.

There is a "rule of thumb" for referring websites successfully.

If you find a website that has an error, determine what the purpose of the website is before referring them. There's no reason to refer websites that have little chance of listing. The websites that have the highest chance of getting listed on TypoBounty.com have certain attributes. 1) They sell products or advertising 2) They provide information for an industry or niche market, 3) They represent a small business trying to gain attention. 4) The website is trying to reach the masses with a particular message. Owners of these types of websites more readily recognize the benefit of listing their web pages on TypoBounty.com to gain the traffic.

Also, look for websites that are already being advertised. They already show that they are interested in gaining traffic. If they have errors, you should refer them immediately before someone else does.

Think about it. There are a lot of websites that aren't trying to reach large amounts of people. Those owners just consider their websites to be their corner of the web and aren't interested in providing quality content. Referring pages like forums, and personal web pages is essentially a waste of time.

Remember, we provided an email template for you to use when referring websites but that email is not the only way to refer a website. It is a template that you need to tweak to make it work for the website being contacted.

Note: Emails are taken more seriously when the owner is addressed by name or when the email includes information that proves that you are actually viewing their website. For instance, if you are contacting the owner of a website that sells flowers. You can throw a line in that says,

“You sell some great looking floral arrangements on your site. You could probably sell a lot of flowers by listing your website on TypoBounty.com. Did you know about this?”

Again, that is just a template. Tweak it and modify it to fit the need. That kind of statement catches the website owner's attention.

Also, the subject line is very important. Never use a pitch type subject heading, it stands a chance of being deleted before it is read. So, be smart about it and never send out bulk email or spam.

We understand that our users run across errors and opportunities in places and times that they don't expect. So, in order to make it as easy as possible to earn as much as possible, we have created the TypoBounty.com Toolbar.

By using the TypoBounty.com Toolbar, the user can also determine if a website has been claimed previously.

The toolbar also has built-in, quick loading email templates and instructions.

Game Competition

Competing with others to find and report errors first is actually a fun way to help website owners and earn cash. The competition to reach the different hunter levels first can be a powerful driver for our users. We intend to offer prizes to the users that reach the different hunter levels first.

The user's username will also be permanently listed on the TypoBounty.com website.

Basic Rules Recap

1. Don't contact the advertiser unless you know that you are correct in what you are reporting or that you are certain that you have made a valid promotion posting.
2. Only do what the advertiser asks for. Stick to dealing with the pages they specify.
3. Remember, the website owner owns their website. Determining a report's worth or lack thereof is their decision.
4. TypoBounty.com's forum is a positive communication area. It IS NOT a complaint center. Use it to get better at what you do and help others become better. DO NOT use it to bash, trash talk, or to discuss disagreements with the website owner's decision concerning your report. We have an arbitration section for that.
5. Be patient. Understand that advertisers often have other jobs that make their payment dates vary. We have seen payments made on the same day of the report and we've seen reports take 3 weeks to be addressed. So, please be patient.
6. Understand that TypoBounty.com is a work in progress. We are not perfect.....yet.

7. Have fun and realize you can make a difference and make money while you do it.
